Hi Todd,

Russ Feller returned an old phone message regarding David Peterson's old limestone project in the Drum Mountains. Minor reclamation was done in 2014. He said that he and David Peterson had a need for material in what sounds like the relatively near future, and that he hoped to get the "claims" figured out soon, and that they'd like to be ready to start(?) operations within 60 days.

I told him that OGM's paperwork was out of date, and that we'd need a replacement Notice of Intent for a small mining operation, but also told him I'd be willing to walk him through it. I also mentioned the probable need for additional bond, depending on their plans.

It seems that short conversations are usually better with Russ, so I didn't get into details, but I also forgot to refer him to BLM. Sorry about that. Hopefully you are able to communicate with one of them in the near future.

Peter
